News / Airlines

GetJet Airlines announced the wet-lease of 1 B737-800 to Fly Swoop, the Canadian ultra-low-cost carrier owned by WestJet, the second largest airline in Canada and one of the top 10 airlines in North America by the number of passengers carried. GetJet Airlines' Boeing 737-800 bearing the registration LY-DUE was delivered to Toronto Pearson International Airport on New Year's Eve, the 31st of December 2022, before beginning commercial operations within Fly Swoops' network on the 1st of January 2023.

R?ta Kulvinskait?, GetJet Airlines CEO, commented: "GetJet Airlines is delighted to kick off 2023 with this exciting collaboration along Fly Swoop. We have grown from strength to strength during this winter season, with our company's portfolio expanding internationally, as our current fleet has a strong footprint across four continents , serving clients in Europe, Africa, Asia, and North America. It is an encouraging indicator that the aviation industry is on the right track of recovery as airlines are continuously looking to expand their networks. "

GetJet Airlines has a proven experience in the Canadian market - the company has operated flights on behalf of Sunwings, the Canadian leisure carrier. The partnership was a milestone in the airlines' growth internationally in 2019.
