

LONDON-BOUND FLIGHT GROUNDED AFTER WING HITS FENCE IN NYC

News / Airports / Routes

A London-bound plane about to take off from New York's Kennedy Airport has been grounded after its wing hit a fence.

Authorities say the incident happened at 8:30 a.m. Saturday as Virgin Atlantic Flight 26 was being pushed back from the gate by a tug.

Port Authority of New York and New Jersey says there were no injuries. Port Authority spokesman Steve Coleman says the 276 people on board were bused back to the terminal.

Virgin Atlantic says in a statement it is working to get customers on their way as soon as possible. Airline officials apologized for the delay.

A photo posted by a passenger on Twitter shows the plane's right wing tip pushed up against the fence.

Flight 26 was scheduled to depart for London at 8:15 a.m.

20 SEPTEMBER 2015

SOURCE: AP

ARTICLE LINK:

<https://virginia.50skyshades.com/news/airports-routes/london-bound-flight-grounded-after-wing-hits-fence-in-nyc>