

GULFSTREAM G700 EARNs DEPARTMENT OF CIVIL AVIATION OF ARUBA TYPE CERTIFICATE

News / Business aviation, Manufacturer

The Registry of Aruba has type validated Gulfstream's flagship G700 aircraft. The Department of Civil Aviation of Aruba's acceptance follows the aircraft's European Union Aviation Safety Agency approval in May, further solidifying its status as a premier choice for global aviation.

Gulfstream G700, renowned for its ultra-long-range capabilities, superior performance, and luxurious cabin design, continues to achieve significant recognition. With certifications from key aviation authorities, including the FAA, EASA, and most recently, the UK's Civil Aviation Authority, the G700 has established itself as a leader in the industry.

Gulfstream's collaboration with these regulatory bodies, particularly following the UK's departure from the EU, demonstrates the company's commitment to meeting stringent safety and performance standards across various jurisdictions.

As an internationally recognized aircraft registry, The Registry of Aruba is proud to announce its type acceptance for the G700, providing streamlined registration services for aircraft owners worldwide. We look forward to facilitating the registration of this remarkable aircraft, ensuring that it meets the highest standards of excellence.
