

LUXAVIATION GROUP PARTNERS WITH AZZERA TO ADVANCE THEIR SUSTAINABLE AVIATION AGENDA

News / Business aviation

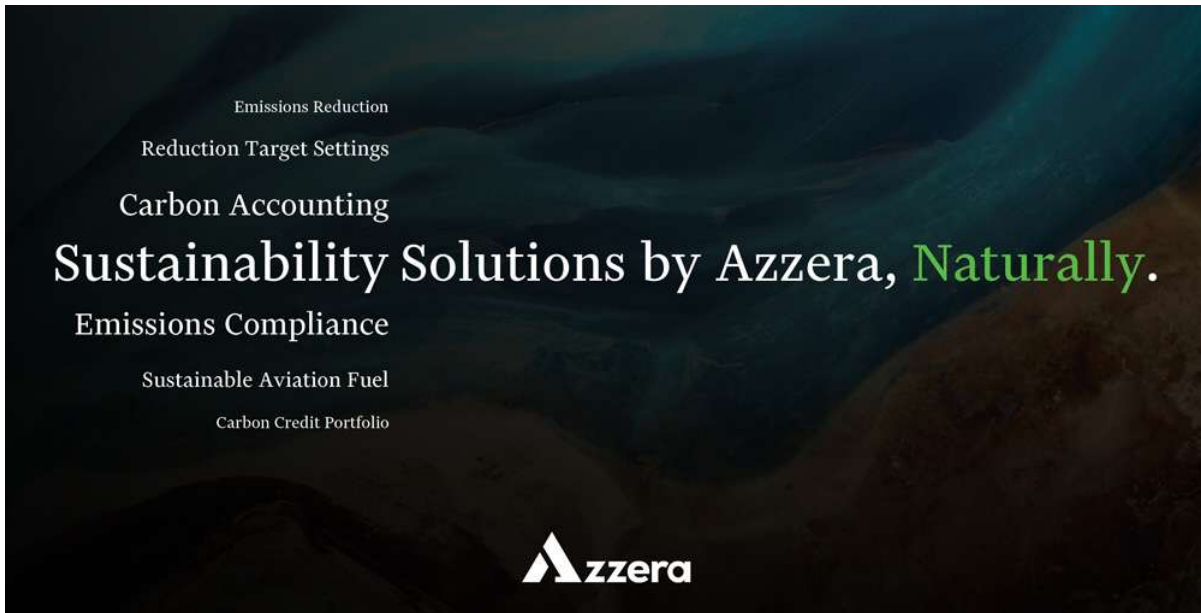

Luxaviation Group joins forces with Azzera, an innovative provider of sustainability solutions for aviation, in a significant step toward sustainable aviation. This alliance aims to drive Luxaviation Group's transition towards more sustainable air transport with a portfolio of high-quality carbon credits and will integrate Azzera's Online Carbon Credit Marketplace with Luxaviation's charter travel management application. Azzera will craft custom carbon credit portfolios for Luxaviation Group focused on their international operations and core values. In addition, all credits will be carefully assessed with The Azzera Impact Scoring methodology, which evaluates each project's crucial financial and technical achievements and guarantees impactful environmental action.

Patrick Hansen, CEO of Luxaviation Group, commented: "The collaboration with Azzera enables us to take significant strides in our sustainability journey, providing our clients with both superior and responsible services, which remains our first priority. Azzera's innovative digital solutions are integrated with the Luxaviation software, enabling quick access to emissions mitigation of flights."

Puja Mahajan, CEO and Co-Founder of Azzera, stated: "Our collaboration with Luxaviation symbolizes our shared vision for a more sustainable future in aviation. Through this strategic partnership, we are providing comprehensive and innovative solutions designed not only to compensate emissions but also to empower Luxaviation's clientele to actively participate in impactful environmental initiatives."

Since its launch in September 2022, Luxaviation platform has promoted increased efficiency by facilitating the booking of empty-leg flights and promotes increased efficiency by facilitating the use of Sustainable Aviation Fuel, which is crucial for reducing carbon emissions. And now, with exclusive access to Azzera Online Marketplace, Luxaviation will enable its clients to make more informed decisions about their environmental impact. The synergy of this partnership will elevate industry standards, driving a robust, technology-driven approach to environmental responsibility in aviation.
