

TAG AVIATION ENHANCES ITS MAINTENANCE SUPPORT TO CLIENTS

News / Business aviation, Maintenance / Trainings

TAG Aviation now operates a Mobile Repair Team (MRT) and can dispatch an expert team to provide global AOG support services from any one of its seven European Maintenance Centres within hours of any reported issue, keeping downtime and inconvenience to a minimum.

Clients will benefit from highly trained and skilled technicians that have extensive maintenance experience to diagnose and rectify faults for any kind of aircraft maintained by TAG wherever maintenance support is needed and importantly assist an aircraft out of base to reduce the time a plane is grounded.

“Our Mobile Repair Team is able to provide a rapid response, with qualified experts on hand that have the same technical capabilities, authorisation and quality systems as we employ in our repair centres”, said Philippe Rabier, Maintenance Sales Director, TAG Aviation Europe. “Wherever in the world maintenance or repair is required our clients can feel confident that our mobile staff are able to quickly respond to their specific needs, ensuring greater flexibility and turnaround time.”

To expedite assistance for any unforeseen AOG situation TAG’s MRT Coordinator can be contacted on a centralised telephone number to make all the necessary arrangements and swiftly dispatch the services of the nearest Mobile Repair Team.
