

FL TECHNICS SIGNS AN EXCLUSIVE GLOBAL REPRESENTATION CONTRACT WITH SVD-PROMTENT

News / Maintenance / Trainings

FL Technics, is delighted to announce the start of a new strategic partnership with SVD-Prompt, the leading supplier of storage, insulation hangars and protective covers. FL Technics will offer the inventory to its current and future clients around the globe, excluding the Russian market.

According to the freshly inked 2 year-long partnership contract, FL Technics has been selected to act as an exclusive seller and representative of all SVD-Prompt production including but not limited to aircraft hangars, insulation and protective aircraft covers as well as covers for ground support equipment.

“Whether it is an independent workshop or a corporate maintenance unit, every customer in today’s market seeks partners that can offer comprehensive solutions for day-to-day operations. SVD-Prompt is a brand which has already earned much deserved appreciation amongst industry players worldwide and this partnership will allow us to further expand our product portfolio with an industry-wide known name. But most importantly, it will enable us to present our long-standing partners and future clients with proven solutions for storage and protection of their aircraft and equipment,” commented Aldas Juronis, the Head of Components and Materials Sales Department at FL Technics.
