

FOCUSED ON CHINESE MARKET ALSIM SOLD 5 AL172 SIMULATORS TO CIVIL AVIATION FLIGHT UNIVERSITY OF CHINA

News / Maintenance / Trainings

Alsim participated and has won a tender for 5 AL172 simulators issued by CAFUC (Civil Aviation Flight University of China).

The ALSIM AL172, developed in 2017 for PPL & IR training, is an exact replica of the Cessna 172 SP Skyhawk NAVIII. It features the G1000 NXI avionics suite and is equipped with ALSIM's High Definition Visual System.

Mr Jean-Paul Monnin, co-founder and CEO of ALSIM, shares his insights with us: "It's an honor for ALSIM to have been chosen by such a renowned University. Everybody knows the demand for pilots is rapidly increasing in Asia and particularly in China. We will try our best to support Chinese pilots' training."

The CEO adds: "All this has been accomplished thanks to a great cooperation between the French and the local Chinese team. PCAT will maintain our simulators for CAFUC in China. We really hope this is the beginning of a great cooperation between our entities and the beginning of a great story for ALSIM in China.”

19 MARCH 2019

ARTICLE LINK:

<https://virginia.50skyshades.com/news/maintenance-trainings/focused-on-chinese-market-alsim-sold-5-al172-simulators-to-civil-aviation-flight-university-of-china>