

TECNAM DELIVERS TWO NEW P2012 TRAVELLERS TO GERMANY'S SAI AIR

News / Manufacturer

Tecnam delivered two Tecnam P2012 Traveller aircraft to SaiAir GmbH, an emerging German air operator offering flexible and customer-focused air transport solutions. The official handover took place at Tecnam's headquarters in Capua, where SaiAir's team personally received their new aircraft before commencing operations from Lahr and Nürnberg. Tecnam P2012 Traveller strengthens Sai Air's strategic positioning in the European charter market by offering modern, efficient, and highly versatile aircraft capable of delivering exceptional comfort and reliability.

Florian Fibich, Head of Flight Operation, SaiAir GmbH commented: "At SaiAir GmbH, we believe that aviation is about connecting people and possibilities. The addition of the Tecnam P2012 marks another milestone on our path to offering reliable, personal, and forward-thinking air transport across Europe."

Francesco Sfera, Tecnam P2012 - Special Mission Platforms Sales & Business Development Manager stated: "We are delighted to welcome SaiAir GmbH to the Tecnam P2012 family. Their commitment to quality, safety, and customer-focused operations reflects the very values the Traveller was designed for. We are proud to support their growth and look forward to seeing the P2012 contribute to their success across Europe."

SaiAir emphasized the operational benefits of the P2012, saying: "By introducing the Tecnam P2012 into our operations, we significantly expand our service range, offering our customers a modern, efficient, and versatile charter solution that combines outstanding comfort with excellent cost-effectiveness."
